MELANIE SINCHE – “NEXT GEN PH.D.: WHERE PH.D.’S LAND..WHAT THE DATA SAY”

1 PM, Wednesday May 31 in the Erickson Hall Kiva

How can you maximize your time in graduate school and/or during postdoctoral training? What strategies can you use for landing the right occupation?

As campus leaders and faculty who work with graduate students, what can you do to help your students prepare for their careers?

This presentation offers a data-driven approach to exploring modern science career paths. Author Melanie Sinche will share proven strategies based on her research and profiles of science PhDs across a wide range of disciplines to identify technical and transferable skills for Ph.D. career paths in a range of options, including education, industry, and non-profits.

Melanie V. Sinche is director of education at The Jackson Laboratory for Genomic Medicine. Her book Next Gen PhD: a Guide to Career Paths in Science was recently published by Harvard University Press. Ms. Sinche is also a certified career counselor with extensive experience working with graduate students and postdocs across the country.

Open to all! No registration required. Sponsored by MSU BEST and MSU Graduate School. Reception Immediately following talk.
